

Shop with a Clean Conscience

You'll have peace of mind by buying from these companies, cooperatives, and organizations. Employers can either treat workers with dignity by paying respectable wages, or they can exploit the labor of workers and create a hazardous and unfair work environment for them. We see these favorites as doing the former.

Whenever you shop, remember that the following companies have demonstrated a commitment to improve the wages and working conditions of their employees. Shop with a conscience. Help workers by supporting these union shops, worker cooperatives and fair trade products.

Sweatshop Watch & Garment Worker Center Gifts

Be among the first to sport Sweatshop Watch and GWC's hip new t-shirt or environmentally friendly totebag. The shirts are union made and the totes are from a women's cooperative. Both are $20, plus shipping. See www.sweatshopwatch.org and www.garmentworkercenter.org for ordering details.

Global Exchange

features unique gifts from around the world as well as educational resources about human rights issues. Artisans create each of the Fair Trade crafts using designs passed down for centuries. Check out: www.globalexchangestore.org is the first shopping mall where you can't find a stitch that was made in a sweatshop. Every merchant in this mall sells only union made clothing. Shop around in good conscience at: www.theunionmall.com.

Union Mall

Maggie's Organics is one of the few companies in the apparel industry that offers 100% organic clothing. They have created a very unique commitment to a women's sewing cooperative in Nicaragua to ensure fair labor standards are met. Contact them at www.organicclothes.com or 1 (800) 609-8593.

Justice Clothing

is a one stop-shop for union-made & non-sweatshop apparel! For every item of clothing, you can learn who made the clothes, where and under what conditions, and even what independent labor union represents the workers. Visit them at www.justiceclothing.com.

Powell's Books

is a legendary independent bookstore with an all union workforce in Portland, Oregon. Their inventory is expansive, and their website can handle orders from across the nation. Visit: www.powells.com

Fuerza Unida

The former Levi's workers in San Antonio, Texas, formed a unique women's sewing cooperative that makes and silk screens t-shirts, canvas bags and flags. Call (210) 927-2294 to make your orders today.

Key for Shoppers

Labor Union Shop

Worker Cooperative

Fair Trade Products

No Sweat Apparel

No Sweat is the world's 1st fair trade fashion brand, featuring sneakers and casual clothing from union shops in the US, Canada and the developing world. You can find it all at www.NoSweatShop.com

Fair Trade Federation

is an association of wholesalers, retailers and producers whose members are committed to providing fair wages and good employment opportunities to economically disadvantaged workers and farmers worldwide. Look at the FTF website at www.fairtradefederation.org.

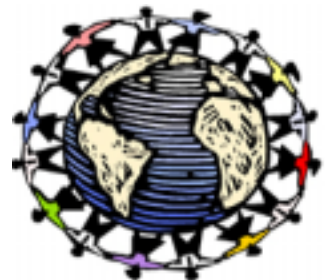

Market Place India

is a nonprofit organization that sells products made by women artisans in India. It began with low-income women who chose to make hand-made textiles as a means to provide women with employment in Bombay, India. To order a catalog call 1 (800) 736-8905 or order on-line at www.marketplaceindia.org.

Just Garments

is the only factory in El Salvador that has accepted an independent union and negotiated a contract with the workers. Order T-shirts for your organization or group. Check them out at www.justgarments.net.

Please visit our websites at www.sweatshopwatch.org and www.garmentworkercenter.org to find out what else you and your loved ones can do to put an end to sweatshops